About

Dr. Jeffery Tun, MD is American Board Certified in Internal Medicine. He completed his residency at Lincoln Medical and Mental Health Center, affiliated with Weill Cornell Medical College in New York City. Working in a fast-paced inner-city hospital, Dr. Tun gained invaluable experience managing a diverse patient population with complex conditions. His training included rotations across multiple specialties, such as Cardiology, Pulmonology, Endocrinology, Gastroenterology, and Infectious Diseases, giving him a well-rounded approach to patient care.

After residency, Dr. Tun joined a private practice in midtown Manhattan, where he developed a thriving primary care practice and earned glowing reviews. Dr. Tun prides himself on staying current with the latest advancements in medical knowledge to provide top-tier care to his patients.

Outside of medicine, Dr. Tun co-founded a college breakdancing club, enjoys following the Iowa Hawkeyes wrestling team, and has recently developed a fondness for animals—especially donkeys.

Dr. Tun is excited to bring his expertise and passion for patient care to Ridgecrest and is accepting new patients.
